MANY LOYAL WOMEN WORK FOR RED CROSS

More than 1100 loyal American women, in various parts of the east bay district, are engaged today in sewing, organizing and collecting supplies, materials and general equipment, as a local contribution to the great national supply system organized by the American Red Cross for the American troops and military hospitals.

The work of this arm of the great first aid work will not end for active field service. Instead it calls for careful, laborious effort at home, continued interest and a careful study of the needs and demands of men actively engaged in the service of the United States. The members are connected with the department of the bureau of military relief of the American Red Cross.

The immediate need of the situation has resolved itself into the establishment of a navy base hospital unit for the equipment of 200 beds of a naval hospital. The work of the bureau of military relief of the American Red Cross is being carried on in San Francisco.

AIDS ARE SOUGHT.
The Oakland women are divided into detachments, covering more than eighteen districts, under the captaincy of Mrs. Wallace N. Alexander and Mrs. Thomas N. Potter. A home-to-home canvass is being made for new members and workers to aid in the humane work of the bureau.

SUPPLIES NEEDED.
The new base hospital calls for thirteen boxes of assorted surgical supplies, such as bandages, sponges and gauze; three boxes of personal equipment, such as the box of box of doctors and nurses' operating gowns; one box of bandages of all kinds; ten boxes of bed linen and towels; ten boxes of bed clothes; one box of pads and splint pillows; seven boxes of miscellaneous supplies.

Central depots and warehouses in all parts of the United States are to be used to house the collected materials for the new base and also the other supplies gathered by the various Red Cross organizations. Collection headquarters have been established in New York, Chicago, Boston, Denver, New Orleans and San Francisco for the work of the Red Cross Supply Service. The work of superintending the collection of supplies will be carried on from these locations.

AIMS EXPLAINED.
At a meeting of the Hill Club of Oakland, held today at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kimball, 710 Kingston avenue, the aims and needs of the American Red Cross were presented by Mrs. Charles H. Frost. Many of the members offered their names for membership in the Red Cross.

HINDU SUSPECTS FREED ON BONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Ram Chandra, Hindu editor and revolutionist, accused of setting on foot a military expedition against England and fomenting an Indian uprising, together with four of his associates, one of whom was arrested in Berkeley, appeared this morning before United States Commissioner Francis Krull and obtained their release on bail. Meantime the federal grand jury, going over a mass of documentary evidence seized in the six raids conducted on both sides of the bay on Saturday.

When Chandra and his aides appeared before the magistrate this morning they were represented by Attorney Timothy Healey. He succeeded in having Chandra's bail reduced from $5000 to $2000 and others from the same sum to $1000. The Pacific Coast Hindustani Association furnished the bond, which was approved, and the quintet was released. No attempt was made at holding a preliminary examination, the case being continued for ten days.

Although United States Attorney John W. Preston made no statement, it is understood that the evidence seized is to be placed before the grand jury and there is a likelihood of the next calling of the case. Whether there is as strong a case against the other defendants will be determined only after a careful perusal of letters and papers in the possession of United States Marshal J. R. Hotel.

The Hindu colony has come to the aid of Chandra, who is considered a leader.

Supreme Court Upholds Two Oregon Labor Laws

10-Hour Day and Minimum Wage for Women Are Declared Valid

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Supreme Court upheld a constitutional Oregon law limiting labor of men in mills, factories and manufacturing establishments to ten hours a day, but permitting thirteen hours labor if paid time and a half for overtime. It was the first general hours of labor or state law ever before the Supreme Court.

The court overruled the constitutionality of the Oregon statute of 1913 limiting hours of labor for men in manufacturing establishments to ten hours a day, presented to the Supreme Court one of the most delicate questions it had been called upon to consider in twenty years.

PREVIOUS DECISIONS.
A series of decisions in previous years had upheld the validity of legislation limiting the hours of labor on public works, whether conducted by the government or by private enterprises. In 1918, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of a state statute—one enacted by the State of Utah limiting the hours of labor of men in underground mines, in smelters and in ore reduction works. The decision was based largely on the recognized danger to health arising from conditions under which those occupations lay. Another step was taken in 1908 when the Supreme whose services will increase efficiency and hasten the conclusion of the war.

Co-operation between the entire and the United States in the form of operation of government ship lines and providing for adequate insurance so that the German submarine attacks to starve the entire will be rendered impotent.

SUM ASKED HUGE.
The bond measure will carry a $2,000,000,000 issue for a loan to the allies and a $2,000,000,000 issue for conducting the war for this country. The $2,000,000,000 issue is expected to meet approximately one part of this country's war expense up to June 30, 1918. Consideration of plans for raising additional funds by taxation conditioning the war for this country will be taken up. The most essential thing to be accomplished now, it is agreed, is to prepare the allies' loan in order that they may obtain needed food and ammunition.

By William D. Hassett, International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The appropriations committee of the House will systematize all appropriations into budget from this will expedite Congressional action to finance the war. Representative Fitzgerald, chairman, announced today that immediate hearings will be begun on the $3,500,000,000 estimates for the initial expenses of the war.

INCREASES ORDERED.
With an increase of $1,400,000 for the coast guard and large boats in every military department the sundry bill was reported favorably to the Senate today.

Altogether the bill carries $144,475,367. The general army bill carrying $278,000,000 for the maintenance of the regular army for the current year was reported to the Senate today. Senator Chamberlain urged that consideration be started at once.

An appropriation of $8,000,000 for the aero squadron is included. The military academy bill carrying $1,240,000 was also reported.

With a request for prompt action, the estimate of Secretary Baker of $1,573,950 for establishment of a submarine base at Panama was submitted to the Senate today.

JOINT PLANS.
By Carl D. Groat.

United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, April 9.—Arrangements for full war co-operation between the United States and the allies may be completed this week. Conferences will be held at the State, War and Navy buildings between representatives of the allied powers, particularly naval agents and heads of American navy and diplomatic service.

The co-operation is to be hearty and thorough. Preliminary discussions started Saturday, continued yesterday, and doubtless other meetings will be held today.

The United States will co-operate as fully in trade matters as it does in naval and military operations with the entire allies.

Details of such trade co-operation will be worked out shortly by commercial commissions representing the United States and its allies.

KAISER DECLARED PLANNING DELAY

COPENHAGEN, via London, April 9.—The German Emperor's commitment to the reform of the Prussian franchise contained in the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, is in effect an effort to stem the tide of public opinion demanding the immediate introduction of a reform bill. The Emperor, through his resignation, pledges the authority of the throne to some project of reform, thus meeting the objection of the reform element to Von Bethmann's policy of postponing such legislation until the end of the war.

The chancellor's appeal to delay the work of reform in the interests of internal harmony, it was declared in recent debates in the Reichstag and the Prussian Diet, fell in with the plans of the Prussian Conservatives, who are announcing more or less vaguely their readiness to operate in an alternative Prussian three-class franchise after the war.

Notwithstanding the chancellor's appeal, the vote in the Reichstag just before the Easter recess showed an overwhelming majority in favor of the immediate introduction of a reform bill and it is doubtful if its advocates can be dissuaded even by the Imperial pledge.

Court upheld the validity of the Oregon statute limiting the hours of labor of women in mechanical establishments, factories and laundries to ten hours in any one day.

WOMEN'S WAGE LAW VALID.
Oregon's law fixing minimum wages for women, the first compulsory minimum wage law ever before the Supreme Court, was today upheld as constitutional by an equally divided court. Similar compulsory laws of Washington, Colorado, Wisconsin, Minnesota, California, Utah, Massachusetts and Nebraska, in Massachusetts and Nebraska, however, the statutes are non-compulsory.

The Oregon statute authorized the Industrial Welfare Commission of that state to fix the hours of service of women and children within the state and the wages of women in any occupation and in any community in the state.

AUSTRIA BREAKS WITH AMERICA

protected day and night until they actually are out of the country.

OFFICIALS PLEASED.
Officials declined to comment in any way on the action of Austria in taking the initiative and forcing a break. This action fell in with the plans of President Wilson, who has been loath to act, inasmuch as, though Austria has endorsed the principle of unrestricted submarine warfare, her submarines have not molested American shipping and so far as is known here, have continued their policy of warning vessels before sinking them.

The break has greatly pleased those officials of the government who have been charged with preventing espionage by Germany. Many of them have viewed with serious concern the possibility that Austria would maintain affording places for German spies. With the Austro-Hungarian consulates throughout the country closed, the work of watching plotters will be considerably simplified. In this connection attention was drawn to the fact that when Ambassador Dumba was sent home the secret service and agents of the Department of Justice had made a careful study of the Austrians in this country who had been active in plots and that these persons' ever since have been under the closest watch.

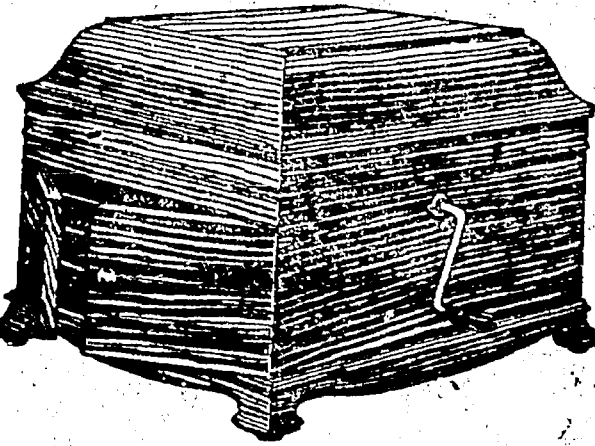

State department officials took instant steps to get the Austrian diplomatic and consular representatives out of this country.

"The state department is still in the dark regarding what actually happened in Vienna. The only word that had was a five-word cable bulletin from Minister Stovall, which read as follows:

"Relations with Austria broken yesterday."

AUSTRIAN SHIPS SEIZED.
NEW YORK, April 9.—All the Austro-Hungarian ships in local ports were seized by the United States Government today. The first of the ships taken over was the steamer Martha Washington, at Stapleton, Staten Island. Collector of the Port Malone went to Stapleton on a cutter and made the seizure in person. The other Austro-Hungarian ships in local ports are the Himalaya at Newark, N. J., and the Ida and Dora at South Brooklyn.

SUNDAY YELLS HIS DEFIANCE TO BROADWAY

By George Martin.

United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, April 9.—Billy Sunday scored a home run in the first inning of the biggest game he ever played on "God's nine"—his fight to win New York.

First off he stole the wool's thunder by announcing that not one cent of New York's gold would he take for himself.

"Every penny, whether I get $5000 or $500,000," said Sunday, "I'll give to the American Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. work among the troops."

It was a knockout. "That's my answer to the skunks who say I'm out for money," he yelled.

CROWD GOES WILD.
The crowd went wild. A blue bottle, white "tango" shirt and patent leather shoes, Sunday leaped into the arena, and after the manner of Napoleon, led surprise attack after attack.

Twice the great throngs amid the pine shavings and sawdust trails of the giant tabernacle jumped to their feet and howled with inspired emotion. They caught the climax.

Leaping far back and cupping his hands as he hurled his rasping voice directly into the mammoth sounding board that threw his words into the furthermost reaches of the tabernacle, Sunday issued his cry:

SUNDAY HURLS DEFI.
"Come on, you God-forsaken degenerates; come on, you forces of iniquity in New York that have made the church a disreputable and a doorway to vice; come on, you triple extract of infamy; come on, you assassins of character; come on, you sponsors of harlotry; come on, you defenders of God and the enemies of the church; come on, you bull-necked, beetle-browed, hog-jowled, peanut-brained, weasle-eyed four-flushers, false alarms and excess baggage."

In the name of God, I challenge and defy you. It's mighty easy to be about a man when he isn't on the job. I'm here now. Come on. Then whirling to patriotism, Sunday again brought the crowd to its feet with his plea for the flag.

"You ghastly, hideous, infamous Prussian militarism," he shrieked, "stand up. The women and children you have murdered are for help."

"And I say to you people that even today the Germans would be pounding at our door if it hadn't been for the answer made by the men of England, France and Italy."

"German imperialism is doomed; and the guns of the United States are going to help dig its grave."

He waved the flag; and the crowd howled.

TWO MEN SHOT BY GUARDSMAN IN COAL MINES

BY UNITED PRESS. LEADERS WIFE TO TRIBUNE. SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 9.—The first serious shooting because of the placing of federal troops on guard in the hard coal region occurred here at 11 o'clock.

Disregarding a warning to halt a National Guard private, a patrol duty at the Pennsylvania railroad bridge shot Stanley Shilkoskie in the abdomen, fatally wounding him, and Stanley Linoleoskie was shot through the left leg, severing an artery. They were rushed to a Shamokin hospital, where it was said both will die.

FIFTY FROM HERE WANTED IN NAVY

Fifty men for Oakland's representation in the United States naval volunteers are wanted at once, and a vigorous campaign was launched this morning by Lieutenant William C. Toose, former assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., for the enlistment of that number before tomorrow night, when the California divisions must be ready for service.

Although Alameda county is represented in the national defense by five companies of infantry and one battery in the National Guard, it has no naval representation. Los Angeles has two companies of naval militia and San Diego two. The Rotary Club and other Oakland organizations are taking hold of the campaign with a view to having Oakland send its quota of men.

Two recruiting offices were opening in the business section today.

The main recruiting station for the naval volunteers is located in the First National Bank building at Fourteenth and Broadway. Lieutenant Toose can be reached there day or night by telephone, Lakeside 1700.

POLICE CHIEF URGES CLOSE CAFE WATCH

Recommending that more strict adherence be given by proprietors of restaurants with bars to the provisions of the liquor ordinance relative to serving of bona fide meals, Chief of Police Petersen today filed with the City Council his report upon the conduct of other cafes, than those which have already been put out of business by the revocation of their licenses.

It is also recommended that no more licenses be granted to so-called "social clubs" on the ground that they are a difficult problem for the police to deal with and regulate. Four clubs now operating, the Idle Hour, the Cooks and Walters, the Bartenders and the Iceberg club are set down on the list for close watching by the police in the future.

As to the restaurants with or without bars, it is recommended that the proprietors be required to "maintain a bona fide restaurant, have cooks in attendance and in fact as well as in name conduct a regular restaurant business. The report states:

The council upon motion of Commissioner Anderson, adopted a resolution giving the cafes a month's time in which to clean up conditions and make improvements that will be satisfactory to the authorities and in compliance with the provisions of the liquor ordinances.

SANITOL TOOTH POWDER OR PASTE

Keeps the Teeth White and Healthy

For Itching Scalp

You do not want a slow treatment for itching scalp when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means no hair.

Get, at any drug store, a bottle of zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, nourishes the hair roots and immediately stops itching scalp. It is a pure, reliable, antiseptic liquid, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use for scalp irritations is zemo, for it is safe and inexpensive.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE PROBED BY POLICE

Fire of mysterious origin destroyed the home of A. A. Anderson, furniture man and father of a recently drafted liquor ordinance.

Dimond avenue, shortly after 5 o'clock this morning under circumstances that have impelled a police investigation. Anderson, his wife and three children, who were asleep in the building at the time, narrowly escaped being burned to death.

Anderson was awakened by the smell of smoke shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. He investigated but found no evidence of fire. Shortly after 5 o'clock, he was again awakened, to find the rooms of the house filled with smoke. He aroused his family and started for the front lawn. As he opened the front door, the house burst into flames from the draft. The next instant it was a seething furnace.

Anderson is at a loss to account for the cause of the fire. He recently fathered a new liquor bill, designed to supplant the Hart ordinance by appearing on the ballot at the next general election. Charges and counter-charges of improper tactics were made as a result of its presentation to the city council. The proposed ordinance itself won many enemies for Anderson.

Police inspectors are also investigating a spectacular blaze which early Sunday morning destroyed property valued at $15,000 and threatened the loss of adjacent holdings estimated at more than $400,000, when the cabinet and stair works of the E. C. Sessions Company, 325 Washington street, caught fire from some unknown cause.

Fanned by a high wind, the flames threatened for a time to spread to the entire lower portion of the city. Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead, who was early on the scene, turned in a general alarm, but notwithstanding the work of the entire department, it was half an hour before the fire could be gotten under control. A company of the National Guard aided the police in holding back the throngs of persons who flocked to the place under the impression that the blaze was the result of war conditions.

Captain Edward Hanley of Engine No. 9 sustained lacerations of the face and hands from pieces of falling glass and splinters. C. B. O'Brien received a badly sprained knee on route to the fire while the blaze was at its height. The fire apparatus remained on the spot from 1 o'clock until dawn.

ORPHEUM BILL BRIGHT

By Ad Schuster.

The Orpheum and audience took flight away yesterday to Ethel Hoppe, whose specialty it is to put feeling and life into song numbers, pretentious and unpretentious. New York, the little in the manner of the grand opera star, a little as a concert singer, and then some as herself, and even in each of her specialties. Wellington Crow and Loh Josephine are no finished and careful that their act stands out among the song and patter ones. They have songs with especially for themselves and in consequence not of their own. They have heard here before, Miss Josephine is a singer in song, dancing, and looks and the two have a combination to make them favorites.

There's classic dancers, following close upon the Morgan dancers, force a comparison of some kind. Of this troupe it is more of the kind which ends with a little of everything from trick bicycling to Egyptian dancing is introduced. The act is one of the kind which ends with a little of everything from trick bicycling to Egyptian dancing is introduced. Members of the Mutual Aid Association of the company are co-operating in the arrangements and the young women of the different departments have formed an auxiliary organization to help entertain the guests. The following committee is in charge of the event: William Cross, Fred Volberg, A. E. Powell, Miss Ethel Bieleck and Miss Julia Loesch.

OFFER COHAN PLAY

It has become a habit to associate anything written for the stage by George M. Cohan with music and popular songs, but "Broadway Jones," the Bishop attraction for this week depends entirely for success upon its legitimate comedy value without the interpolation of song. Broadway Jones was originally introduced for Douglas Fairbanks, at present running Charles Chaplin rather close for premier popularity as a movie star, but Cohan played it himself in the original production. John Wray, who specializes in Cohan roles, is of the same type as George M. Cohan and gives an excellent performance of "Broadway Jones." Miss Brissac has appeared as "Josie Richards," a number of times with success and Anthony Smythe will appear as Wallace, Broadway's friend, a part almost as good as the Cohan role and one that Smythe ought to shine in. Harry Corry, Rodney Hildebrand, Hugh McDuffie, Nolan Leary, Miss Van Tye, Miss Kingsbury, Miss Knowlton, Harold Hutchinson and Sammy Miller complete the cast. Cohan plays have a habit of doing business and there is every reason to believe "Broadway Jones" will not depart from this rule.

Joan Sawyer Is Seen in New Film

The Broadway bill for the first part of the week is the latest in production, "Love's Law." In this picture Joan Sawyer makes her debut as a dramatic artist. The noted screen player the part of a girl who forsakes a career which is certain to bring fame and fortune to join her gypsy love in the wilderness. After being cast off by her wealthy uncle, Innocent, which is Miss Sawyer's name in the picture, wanders into the forest and is found by Andre, who is the leading force of a large band of gypsies. The man takes her prisoner, but she is liberated by a girl who loves Andre herself. It is here that she gives the first evidence of her marvelous dancing ability by performing an intricate stamp and the gypsy camp fire. She finally escapes to the city, where she cultivates her talents and achieves fame.

HAIR COMING OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out. To stop the falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Dandorine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—Advertisement.

U. S. RAISES BAN ON ARMED SHIPS OF WAR NATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Belligerent vessels belonging to any of the allied powers with which the United States government is now bound will be allowed to have absolute clearance from American ports, even though they are armed to the teeth, according to orders issued by the United States treasury department today. Collector of the Port John O. Davis received instructions to discontinue reports of the arrival of merchant vessels containing armament and to make no investigation of them. No further consular assurances as to the reasons for the arming of the ships or as to the nature of their cargoes will be demanded. Today's order was necessary by reason of previous instructions received by the collector ordering an investigation in the event of the arrival of a belligerent merchant ship with guns mounted and gunners aboard. It is evident that the United States will offer no further objection to the carrying of guns on vessels of foreign flags which may visit American ports.

BROWN PLANS TO FIGHT DISMISSAL

Petitions endorsing Captain of Police Thorvald Brown of the Melrose station, signed by more than 200 persons, the majority of whom are women, have been filed with Commissioner F. F. Jackson, before whom Captain Brown appears late today for a hearing upon which depends his further retention in the police department. The grand jury in its report recommended that Captain Brown be dismissed from the force for alleged activity in selling oil stocks to gamblers, saloon men and women of the underworld. Corporal E. J. Conroy, who was jointly accused with Captain Brown, was dismissed a week ago after a hearing before Commissioner Jackson, who sustained the charges of the grand jury.

That there is a wide difference in the grand jury testimony as affecting Captain Brown from that which referred to the activities of Corporal Conroy, is claimed by Brown's friends, who confidently believe that he will be vindicated after the matter has been sifted by his superior officer.

Corporal Conroy may take an appeal to the civil service board.

MOTHER WINS BOY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Superior Judge James Trout this morning awarded the custody of Max Solter-Beck, aged 7, to his mother, Adella Solter-Beck, who seized him Saturday as he was about to be spirited away on the steamship Maui. Mrs. Solter-Beck produced a letter from her husband, an affidavit written last November in which he told her she could take the boy. Saturday a barber on the Maui gained possession of little Max and at the eleventh hour the mother heard of it, obtained a court order and prevented what she alleged was an abduction.

AUTO STUCK; JAIL

Inability to drive an automobile in which they arrived from a ferry-boat at the foot of Broadway yesterday led to the arrest of Abner Jordan, a student living at 1110 Grand avenue, Alameda, and Colin C. Smith, his companion. Jordan answered before Police Judge Samuels on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated and his case was put over until Thursday. Smith was put in an appearance and his case was continued until the same date.

JUDGMENT POOR

Morris Orman is being held by the police today for the reason that he used poor judgment in selecting an automobile to steal. He stepped into a small car that was standing at fourteen in an Haight street last night and before he could start it he was arrested by Special Officers Blakeley and Gallagher, who were standing near by. The officers had left the car to report at a patrol box a short distance away.

KING IN BIG SHOW

Attired in the season's finest, a holiday crowd cheered the work of the show drilled by Ballet Mistress Nellie Harding in "America, Here's My Boy," a patriotic song number sung by Jack Wiley and a bevy of pretty young women garbed in the national colors. Barely two years old, Chin-Chin is the animal comedian who made such a hit at the great new Hippodrome last season. With a tiny Shetland pony and several other animal actors, he is put through his tricks by Lillian O'Connell, who, a very clever singing comedienne. Out and Bryan, musical funmakers; J. G. Gibson.

BILL AT HIPPODROME

Capacity houses at the Hippodrome yesterday enjoyed one of the best bills of the season. Little Chin-Chin, the smallest performing elephant in the world, delighted both children and grown-ups with his amusing antics. BIG CIRCUS COMING

The big Al G. Barnes wild animal circus, with its 1000 animals of all descriptions and pedigrees, will be in Oakland Wednesday for two days, bringing hours of delight and wonderment to little ones and none that are not so little. Judging from criticism of newspapers along the Barnes' route, the Barnes animal circus has drawn record-breaking attendance in every city it has visited. The hair-raising feats performed by lions, tigers, panthers, leopards and other beasts keep audiences on the tip-toe of expectation all through the program of sixty-five acts.

CALOMEL BAD FOR THE LIVER

Dose of Nasty Calomel Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crumbles into it, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a 60-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

"The Barricade" Is T. & D. Offering

With the close of the Lenten season the new T. & D. Eleventh street and Broadway, open up festive days that are to follow with a powerful society drama, "The Barricade." The theme centers around a young girl whose father has been experimenting with the corporation's money over which he presides as president. He has been the undisputed business leader but suddenly finds himself supplanted by a young man from the East. The old man broods over his trouble and by his manner arouses the suspicion of the barter lady, with the daughter, avert the old man from his intended. He tells his daughter that Cook (the young man from the West) has ruined him. Hope (Mabel West) urges her father to have courage, as she is determined to avenge the wrong. The husband, only to find out the terrible mistake she has made, is unfeeling. On the same program Jackie Saunders, in a five-part Mutual star production, is featured.

URGES ECONOMY

SALT LAKE CITY, April 9.—With appeals for frugality, economy and loyalty to America's foodstuffs, the Mormon church ended its eight-seventh annual conference in the tabernacle by offering $3500 in cash prizes for the best yields of potatoes and spring wheat acreage supervised this year by ward production of food supplies in the present state of war with Germany.

'CASCARETS' FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

CASCARETS

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are less active.

CASCARETS

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

CASCARETS

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be used constantly without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.—Advertisement.

RESOURCES OF U. C. ALL ORGANIZED

BERKELEY, April 9.—The military and economic resources of the University of California are completely organized and more than 2000 men trained in military science and tactics are available for whatever service the state council of defense may deem necessary, according to a report Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University, has made to Governor William D. Stephens.

The report declares that the university cadets are the logical officers for the training of a defensive force either at home or in the service of the national government.

The University's department of military science is said to be rated by the national government as one of the best in the country. It is headed by Major J. T. Nance and 1600 men are now under arms. Hundreds of graduates of the University also have been trained in similar manner and are available for service.

It is estimated by Major Nance that the University buildings at Berkeley might be used to house four thousand infantry, while the University farm at Davis could easily accommodate a squadron of cavalry.

FOOD SUPPLY PROBLEM.
The report directed attention to the Scripps Institute for Biological Research in San Diego, which is working to develop the fishing industries of the state as well as the kelp industry, the basis of the munitions supply. Another way to grapple with the food problem is through experts who understand the availability of game animals which have an annual food value to the State of $400,000.

The Department of Agriculture, with all its many branches, is another agency, the report sets forth. The work of this department covers the entire State, and is in active touch with more than five thousand individual farmers. It has farm advisers in fourteen counties and operates its experimental stations from Imperial to Chico.

TRANSPORTATION PLANS.
University authorities are giving particular attention to the problem of transportation. The general subject is under the direction of Professor, Lincoln Hutchinson. Transportation by rail is the field of Professor Stewart Dagggett, an expert on rail economics. Professor F. S. Poole covers the field of railroad engineering, while the problem of highway transportation is covered by the entire department of civil engineering, which has a working knowledge of practical conditions in the state.

Still another important feature of the report deals with the department of medicine, which is prepared to organize a base hospital as well as give service to every one of the lines of research. The University physicians, at the request of the national Red Cross, is organizing a Red Cross unit, consisting of four officers, sixteen non-commissioned officers and sixty-five men, who can be put into the field at an early moment.

The report already has been laid before the council of defense.

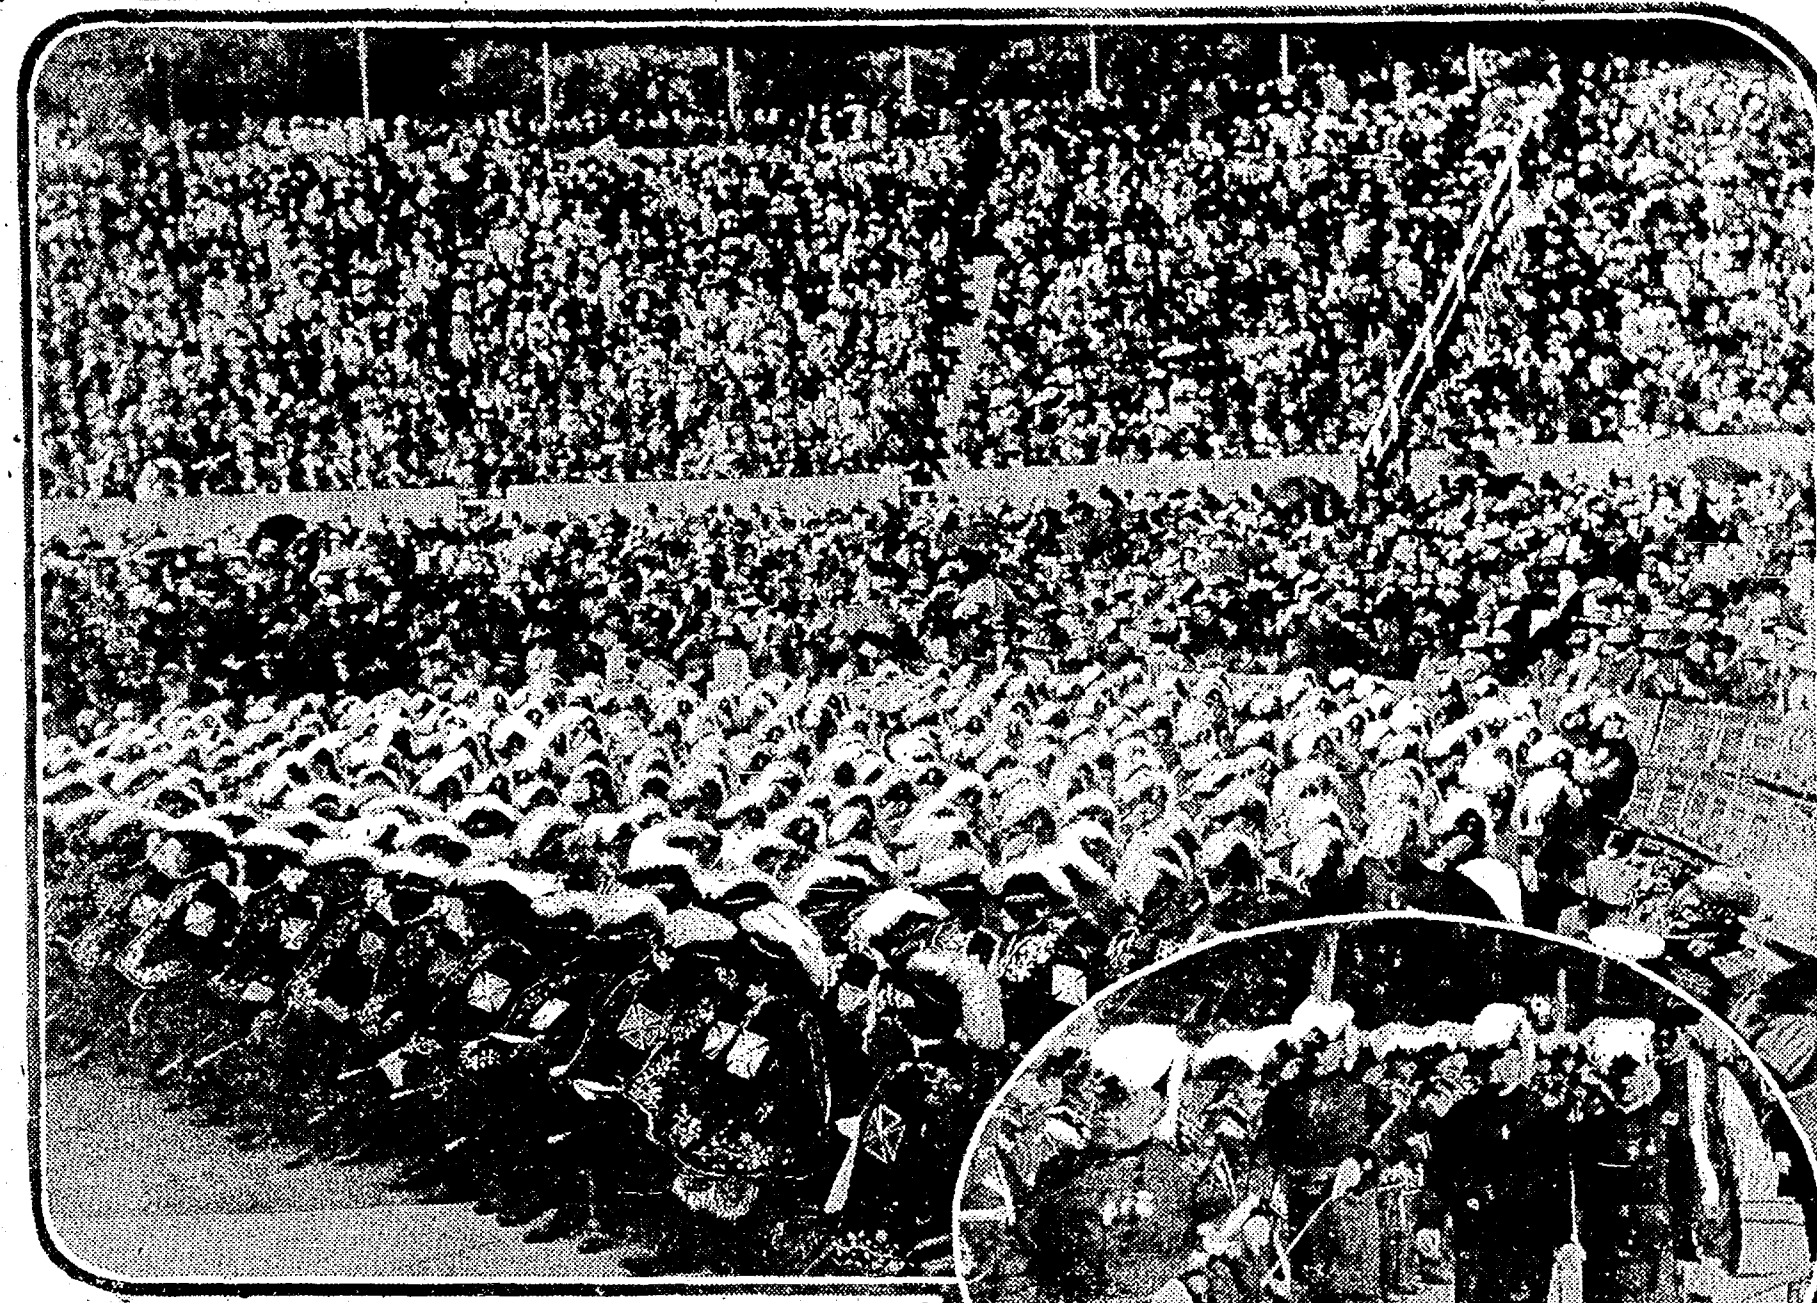

HELD FOR THEFTS

Two burglars, both well known to the police and alleged to be responsible for a score of housebreaking jobs in Oakland and Berkeley, were picked up by the San Francisco police early this morning and turned over to inspectors Drew and McCarthy. They are Albert Tatter and Adam Stroh. In Tatter's room was found jewelry, watches, diamonds, revolvers, shotguns and other articles, all of which had been stolen from homes in Oakland and Berkeley.

Stroh is wanted for the theft of a quantity of shoe leather from a Japanese shoemaker several weeks ago.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR VOICE PATRIOTISM AT EASTER RITES IN GREEK THEATER

The Easter service conducted yesterday in the Greek Theater by the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of the State was the occasion for a display of patriotism. The service was participated in by five commanderies of the bay cities and was attended by a crowd that exceeded the capacity of the theater. The main picture shows a section of the theater. The insert shows Grand Commander Sir Elmer E. Stone and his escort marching into the theater.

Our national ideals are not militarist; we believe in peace. But when the nation's call comes for defense of its ideals the real patriot is ready to sacrifice the physical with all its comforts for the country's cause.

A weak submission is far worse than manly self-sacrifice for a great cause.

However much we may deplore the present conflict, surely in the spirit of our fathers we will respond to the call for the defense of the Stars and Stripes.—From the address of Rev. J. A. B. Fry at the Knights Templar celebration yesterday at Berkeley.

BERKELEY, April 9.—One of the largest crowds that has ever sought to find room for itself in the Greek theater appeared there yesterday afternoon to attend the Easter service of the Knights Templar of the State under the auspices of the Berkeley chapter of the order. More than 2000 people were turned away because there was no room for them.

Hundreds of these congregated outside the entrance and on the hillside behind the theater where they could catch an occasional strain of music. Despite the religious nature of the celebration, patriotism was among the dominating emotion. At the close of the program the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung by the audience, led by the singing societies and the massed Templar bands with G. W. Bennett as conductor. When the first notes of the national anthem were sounded the standard-bearers of the Knights Templar advanced to the front of the stage carrying five great American flags, and the enthusiasm of the audience surged to mighty heights. The anthem never was more earnestly sung than by the 10,000 people who participated at this time.

A parade of Templar knights, more than 500 strong, preceded the exercises in the Greek theater. This body formed at the Hotel Shattuck and marched by way of the university paths to the theater. Here an invocation by Rev. W. R. H. Hodgkin of the Chapel of All Souls opened the program. Introductory remarks were made by President E. F. Louideck of the chamber of commerce in the following strain:

OBLIGATIONS OF NATION.
"It is not without good reason that we, a nation founded on justice, bound near by the university paths to the defense of right, and never to sheath it save in honor, should gather at our fairs to recall our obligations of loyalty and devotion."

"Nor could these services be held more appropriately than here, under the open sky, within the precincts of this classic place, we tender an expression of grateful appreciation."

The response was made by Dr. Elmer E. Stone, grand commander of the Knights Templar of the State. His pledge of allegiance to the flag was one of the moving features of the address. In part he said:

"We, ladies and gentlemen, what splendid setting, what magnificent day, as we worship under the great canopy of heaven. Such an inspiration to all to have but one thought—Our God and our country."

"We as Templars, pledge our allegiance to that flag and with our swords representing justice impartial, fortitude undaunted, and mercy unrestrained, we shall go forth to conquer in the cause of which the cross is a visible emblem."

This, too, is the Templar's ideal, his dream, his hope, his aspiration. The world for Christ is the ideal that shall one day attain realization. And it is a dream, then is all life a dream, mystic, wonderful, fearful and we know not when we dream nor when we wake."

SERMON OF DAY.
The sermon of the day was delivered by the Rev. J. A. B. Fry, pastor of Epworth Methodist church of this city. Rev. Fry stirred his great audience deeply with his statement that "our national ideals are not militarist but when the nation's call comes for defense of its ideals every real patriot is ready." His address in part was as follows:

"This is an hour when a serious thought, a time when we may well raise the standards of Christian America. We revere our fathers' Nation, ashamed of its ancestry will be despised by its posterity. We recount with pride the long march from Jamestown and Plymouth Rock to the Golden Gate. Inspired by the achievement of the past it is well in the midst of the turmoil of the hour to turn to the past, and what will make us worthy successors of that ancestry we so much honor."

"The Christian standard of material things is to use them for the ends of soul, whether in the common tasks of life or in the heroic devotions of the times that try men's souls. We are in danger of becoming limp and soft, seeking to rekindle their lost faith, we shall come out into that clear vision that opened to him while passing through the tragedy of Golgotha, and we shall be able to feel that somehow the crucifixions of time are the travail of humanity coming into the new birth of a nobler day."

The program was interspersed with musical numbers of a devotional and patriotic character. The University of California Glee club and the De Koven club contributed ensemble numbers. "Gloria Dei" was sung by Miss Ruth Bowers with Mrs. Mabel Hill Redfield as accompanist. Miss Olive Todd played the solo obbligato. Clinton B. Morse sang a tenor solo, "Hosanna." The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Raymond C. Brooks, pastor of the First Congregational church. Members of the Acadia fraternity of the university acted as ushers.

A Phenomenal New Lens Invented

The newly patented double vision glasses called "Caltex Onepiece" Bifocals are without question the most perfect and satisfactory lenses of the kind being made in the world today. The necessity of using two pairs of glasses has been entirely done away with, as these wonderful lenses combine both reading and distance corrections in a single lens. Many who could not heretofore wear bifocals are wearing the "Caltex" with perfect comfort, as all annoying features of other bifocals have been excluded from the "Caltex." Remember the name and insist on "Caltex," as there are imitations of the genuine. A Colonial Recipe
Mother's Home-made Cookies date back to the time of powdered wigs and silk knee breeches. They were served with the warmed claret, the spiced hot drinks that were the chief refreshment offered guests in the homes of Virginia.

Today these same cookies are baked here, by the same recipe, and with the same care as they were 200 years ago.

IN CUSTODY PENDING PROBE.
Earl Taylor, companion of James E. Murphy, who has confessed to a series of burglaries in Oakland and other bay cities, is being held by the police under a vagrancy charge pending further investigation into his antecedents. Murphy and Taylor motored to Oakland from the southern part of the state last December and committed burglaries which netted them several thousand dollars until their arrest last Saturday. Murphy escaped from the Walla Walla penitentiary in Washington last January.

CIRCUS IS DEFENDANT.
The A. G. Barnes Circus Company is the defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages brought by the parents of Luther Opelt, 10 years old, who was injured by a leopard when the circus was in Oakland a year ago and which is being heard before Superior Judge Everett J. Brown today. Opelt was clawed by the leopard as he stood with his face close to the bars of the cage, and one of his eyes injured.

BOARD CALLS ELECTION ON BOND ISSUE

A resolution providing for a bond issue election involving $1,700,000 for the building of a bascule bridge over the Oakland harbor at Webster street, additional buildings at the county infirmary and a site and buildings for a new county hospital was adopted by the Board of Supervisors this morning. The resolution calls upon District Attorney W. H. L. Hyman to make the necessary preparations and fix a date for the election.

Four propositions will be referred to the voters: No. 1, $500,000 for the proposed bascule bridge across the Oakland estuary; No. 2, $500,000 for additional buildings at the county infirmary; No. 3, $1,500,000 for a new county hospital including site and buildings; No. 4, $100,000 for a county hospital site in Oakland.

If proposition No. 4 passes the Board of Supervisors will be forced to build the proposed hospital in Oakland, and if it is defeated the voters will have the authority to buy a site anywhere in the county from the funds provided in proposition No. 4.

Supervisor John P. Mullins said that it would be a crime against humanity not to build the hospital in Oakland and the joined Supervisor Fred Foss in opposing the form of the resolution.

In asking the people to vote a bond issue of only $1,700,000 for the proposed bascule bridge across the Oakland estuary which is estimated to cost approximately $1,000,000, Supervisor Joseph M. Kelley explained that it was practically certain that the Southern Pacific Railway Company would not build the bridge and that only the final legal details were yet to be settled between the county and the railway company.

MANY RECRUITS JOINING RANKS

Recruitment for the Home Guard organization continued today at the Central, Melrose and Northern police stations when a score more of applications were added to the growing list. The applications are being handled by the police department under the direction of Chief Peterson, who plans to organize a regiment of men experienced in military training to volunteer for active service if the government desires.

Many aged veterans have placed their names on the roll, while youths of 18 years and upward are signing. It is the younger men who may later on be included in the unit for active service while the others will be organized into a strictly home guard, Chief Peterson plans.

The regular recruiting stations of the Government service were busy today taking the names of prospective recruits and giving literature and other information. The navy led the rest with nine recruits, while the army came next with eight and the marine corps with five. Several of the would-be recruits of the marine corps service were rejected because of physical defects. The corps is marked as one of the most exacting branches of the whole Federal service.

MOTHER'S COOKIES

A Colonial Recipe
Mother's Home-made Cookies date back to the time of powdered wigs and silk knee breeches. They were served with the warmed claret, the spiced hot drinks that were the chief refreshment offered guests in the homes of Virginia.

Today these same cookies are baked here, by the same recipe, and with the same care as they were 200 years ago.

PROUGH'S SECOND WIN OF WEEK IS FIRST ANGEL SHUTOUT

Jack Ryan Is Given Beating By Oaks to Wind Up Series

Angels Nose Out Ahead for the Morning Game, But Are Blanked in Matinee Affair

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—Del Howard took his Oakland squad home for their opening series before the home fans with the satisfaction of having held Frank Chance's bunch of champion Angels to one of the hardest contested opening series ever recorded in the Coast League. The final double-header was split, giving the series to the Angels, four games to three. But the Oaks made a good enough showing against what is generally admitted as the most logical pennant contender to encourage Howard, Ewing Company.

Seals Go Extra Innings to Take the Opening Series From Stovall Tigers

The Seals and Tigers finished up in a whirlwind when the series seemed the two farthest games of the season. The morning session on the local lot Erickson outlasted Mitchell in the pitching argument, that's about the whole story of the game. A call for the fire department to check a blaze in the office room of the stadium was the only interruption that gave the game a little variety. Three to one was the final count for the extra-inning session.

NEW FACES WILL BE SHOWN TO FIGHT FANS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

There will be several new faces on the fight end offered by the West Oakland Club Wednesday night. Jack Dempsey and Al Norton, in the headliner, are both well known to the fans, as are also Joe Miller of San Francisco and Sammy Pelton of the city. Such newcomers as Thorpe and Will Curry will make their first appearance before the Oakland fans. Matchmaker Tommy Simpson has made sure of his man before he booked these newcomers and he is going on record as saying that they will make good for local fans. Thorpe is a former champion of New York, and he has bona-fide newspaper clippings to show that he has boxed with a bunch of champions and has a pound class back east. He will have a

HITS AND RUNS

The Angels and Seals now occupy the proud eminence at the head of the league standings. Volverson's outfit landed into the elite ranks by routing the Dempsey and Norton team in two beautiful games. It took them eleven innings to grab the second. The Seals led to the hills, when the Tigers tied it up on hits in Calhoun and Doane. In the eleventh, Quinn walked Fitzgerald, who was bunted to second and scored on George Maise's lovely single to center. The Oaks and Angels split the two Sunday games fifty-fifty. Jack held the Howard's crew to three hits in the morning and took a perfectly played contest 2 to 1. In the afternoon Jack Ryan allowed only four hits but they were nearly run up and permitted the Oaks to score three. One of the three runs—in the seventh—was tallied without a hit. Murphy walked, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on a sacrifice fly. The Beavers and Bees totaled nine hits apiece but Heifrich's wildness and the Bees' habit of group hitting aggregated seven runs for them to three for Portland.

POSTPONEMENT OF BIG LEAGUE GAMES IS URGED

NEW YORK, April 9.—The time has now come when everybody is set to hear some arguments in favor of postponing the long baseball season later in the spring. And if tangible evidence has anything to do with it, the arguments could be made to stick out pretty far today. In the last four days of this back-spring, the Yankees and Dodgers have made two attempts to open the baseball season in New York. They were scheduled to make the third attempt this afternoon in Brooklyn, but Brooklyn did a clever imitation of the summit of Pike's Peak today by remaining well hidden under an inch or so of snow—one of the best arguments for a later opening.

Joe Rivers Proves Theory That Has-Been Boys Never Come Back

NEW YORK, April 7.—Once again it has been demonstrated to the fight public that once a fighter is down he never starts up again. It is a truth that has stood in spite of everything. In the long list of scrappers who have fallen themselves, the amusement of the public there is just one whose record stands to belie the statement. Joe Rivers, who has been down a short time ago and announced that a new Joe was going to show that he could come back and fight as of old, has now been dropped once and lived to see the day when he recovered his lost laurels the same way.

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Ad Machold, near Sea pitcher, pitched a no-hitter for the first time in his career by a score of 2 to 0 in the eleventh inning. Machold was on the mound for the host team against the Kimball Union squad and he allowed only three hits to the losers. It was a fine feat for a single and a sacrifice, and when his Snook went all the way around for a second run. In case of war there will be no tennis tournaments. But they won't call off the dogs.

Oaks Hold Champion Angels to Tightest Series of First Week

Howard's Squad Second in the Club Fielding Records; Prough on the Honor Roll

Clinton Prough, Oak pitcher, was one of the only two hurlers who got away with two victories for the first week of the Coast League season. Kirmayer, newcomer with Salt Lake, is the other man on the honor roll. No pitcher was beaten twice in the first week. In club batting, Salt Lake starts another season as top-notchers, the Bees batting at a .318 clip against Portland. The Seals rank second in club batting with the Oakland club fifth. Oakland and Los Angeles hooked up in the tightest series of the league last week, these two clubs showing the smallest run totals. Only 44 runs were scored in the Oakland-Los Angeles series. By way of contract, 70 runs were scored in the Seal-Tiger series.

Lewis, W. T. Lewis and G. M. Heckel. The score was 10 to 2.

Baseball Only Relief From War Strain During the Coming Months of Summer

By H. C. HAMILTON, United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, April 9.—Zippy baseball weather and great war preparations are going to do a fifty-fifty stunt, in the minds of some folks this week. Baseball will get things going Wednesday, when the American and National leagues open their championships. Baseball is going to afford virtually the only relief from war strain this summer for managers expect it to get more attention than ever. Managers in all leagues have patriotically offered to do everything in their power to help the government.

Baseball Squad Are to Be Drilled

CHICAGO, April 9.—Arrangements are being made for the University of Chicago baseball squad to engage in military drill just before practicing every afternoon. An effort was made today to get army rifles for this squad. The boys don't like shouldering arms with ball bats.

Time! which stands behind violin tone. (and Cigar fragrance)

Down in Pennsylvania the wood from the old covered bridges is much esteemed as material for the making of violins. For this wood is time-seasoned, time-cured. And unless it is made from time-seasoned wood a violin lacks in tone.

By the same token a cigar, the leaf for which has not been properly time-cured, lacks in fragrance.

That, friends, is why we time-cure for long months all leaf for the OWL Cigar. That is why we constantly keep on hand at least $1,000,000 worth of mellowing tobacco. And why our curing experts never allow any portion of their guarded leaf to be made into OWL Cigars until it is exactly "ready" in OWL fragrance.

These measures guarantee that your every OWL Cigar will be a fragrant, mellow smoke.

Demonstrate it! 5c at the nearest cigar store.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander has done something altogether practical as a part of her contribution toward the development of the American Red Cross movement in California. She has cleared out the spacious attic which stretched across the full length of the handsome Piedmont mansion and has installed sewing machines and whatever an energetic body of seamstresses might demand. It is a huge sewing room, perfectly equipped, away from disturbances of telephones and equally annoying distractions. And its entire output is turned over to the organization which the whole world and every nation recognizes. Here the women may remain the entire day, a half day or a half hour and come back to find their particular bit of work still awaiting their nimble fingers. Mrs. Alexander's mother, Mrs. T. L. Barker, has drawn about her a number of the women who for years have stood as leaders in the fast bay cities, with many hours each week devoted to the effort which is indicative of the larger patriotism.

The group of friends which have been meeting in the Moss avenue residence of Mrs. E. A. Heron as her guests on Tuesdays has grown to include their friends and their friends' friends, and even the big rooms with all the accommodations of conveniences into other apartments have grown too small. And the question now arises, What? Among the original women numbered with this particular Red Cross chapter were Mrs. Mary Houghton, Mrs. Arthur Tashira, Mrs. J. Quincy Brown, Miss Bessie Palmer and several others.

Mrs. William Cavalier has gathered about her an interesting group of the younger matrons and girls of the smart set who are giving up each Monday to the cause which is near the heart of the community. The preparation against the need of men suffering because they have given what they could to their country. The coarse work of making dressings, bandages, and other necessities for the night and such things as are included in the list of necessities for the base hospitals have wholly crowded out the hours devoted to the finer needlework of exquisite embroidery of which these women were past mistresses. And let what come on Mondays the little group stays by its determination to add its share to the work which is so near the heart of the community. In the number are Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. Alla Chickering, Mrs. Seymour Rogers, Mrs. George Channing, Mrs. Harry Mosher, Mrs. Harold Jewett, Mrs. Harry Hill, Miss Irene Farrell, Miss Cleo Posey and several others. Today the women completed a large number of garments which will be added to the crisp store.

Tomorrow society, or those to whom a game of cards when it is announced that little children will be cared for, the better means of the community. Hotel Oakland. It is the board of managers of the West Oakland Home which has sent forth the call for help. And, as is becoming to Easter week, the function will be a brilliant one with four of five hundred guests filling the tables.

And tonight as many more men and women eager for pleasure, glad to see little children, glad to see the women, will assemble in the same place to dance as the guests of the Ladies Relief Society. The friends of the forty days of quiet has sprung these two notable functions, each dedicated by the smart set to boys and girls and those who might have been their grandmothers, who have been and comfort.

Mrs. Wickham Havens will hostess one of the larger dinners which will precede the supper dance of the Ladies Relief Society. It is a merry coterie of friends who will partake of her hospitality, each of whom has at heart the welfare of the helpless young and the helpless old. Among those for whom covers will be laid are: Mr. and Mrs. Havens, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engle and as many more.

There is a great rejoicing among the friends of the young man, George Meredith, who was anxious over the homecoming of her fiancé, Roland B. Oliver. But word has been cabled across the continent that he has safely reached home after a few days in Washington, D. C., will speed across the continent. His journey has been a long and hazardous one, with two perilous oceans to cross, but his reward at the homecoming will be a bride. Plans for the ceremony will not be perfected until after his welcome to the bay cities, however.

The spring and Dr. Pauline Nussbaumer and Miss Elsie Nussbaumer in Washington, D. C., where they will spend several weeks according to their present plans. It will probably be well into June, maybe July, before Oakland again welcomes them from their long absence on the Atlantic coast.

One of the brightest affairs of the mid-April will be the wedding for which Mrs. Nelson Howard will claim guests on the evening of Wednesday, April 18. It will include a congenial group of friends who have much in common and will offer the most delightful and tremendous pressure which is being brought to bear upon men and women of all classes. Spring flowers will decorate the pretty board and bridge will offer a diversion to the later hour.

Mrs. Dennis Seales has presented to the Sequoyah Country Club a handsome silver trophy which will remain in the possession of the exclusive organization in memory of her husband, who was a charter member. The cup, which is of exquisite design, will be annually contested for by the lovers of golf with the victor's name to be inscribed on it at the conclusion of the tournament. The inscription plate carries on the name of Seales and the date of his presidency of the country club.

Tomorrow a coterie of the smart set are crossing the bay to accept the invitation of Mrs. Edward de Lavanga who is presiding as hostess over a bridge luncheon. Mrs. de Lavanga has been giving a series of unusually beautiful affairs this season. The party will be given by the lovely from their West Clay Park residence.

Clipped Wings

BY RUPERT HUGHES

Everything collaborated to Eldon's torture. The "Friend in Need" company was moving West in long jumps. Sheila's letters had farther and farther to go. A sudden change of booking threw them off their track and two weeks passed without a line. He sent her day letters and night letters as affectionate in tone as he had the face to submit to the telegraph operators. Her answers did not arrive. He was never so prompt as his calculations and he did not credit her with restraint before the cold-eyed telegraphers. She was far busier, too, than he imagined. Costumes were to be ordered and fitted; the new lines to be learned; photographs to be posed for; interviews to be given. Reben was zooming her for a star already, without giving him a moment's thought. As for flirting with Breton or Polwell, she was as far as possible from the thought of such a lewd occupation. She was having battles with them and still bitter conflicts with the author.

CHAPTER XVII.
In the first of the twilight Sir Ralph Inledon, as in the eyes of the early Spaniards, the Americans were savages with unlimited gold to exchange for glass beads. He had a whole contempt for all of us almost ashamed to take those; their very nomenclature was vulgar and the decimal system was French.

Other great writers and actors who had received the accolade had been rendered a little weaker and more knightly as knights, but Inledon became almost unendurably offensive, even to his fellows in London. The descent English in New York who had to meet the success of Miss Berkinshaw, at her very tolerance on the stage, she said she looked like a giraffe and talked like a cow. But she pleased her own public somehow. When pressed, he said that she was a "wash" but Breton and under "absolutely neigh-o-seemances" could he permit her to deviate from the platform of dry-as-a-donkey. She had flattered herself that she knew something of England and English; she had visited the island once.

to their lovely country place where a round of house parties mark the mid-year. One of the pretty ceremonies of Easter Monday was at which today James B. Arthur claimed Miss Olive Lebo as his bride. It was a home wedding with only a small company of the family connections witnessing the marriage rites, which were read by Rev. A. J. Jones, Mr. Wendell Lutz (Irene Robertson) of Tucson, as matron of honor, with Charles Arthur as best man, completed the small bridal party. Berkeley will be the destination of the honeymoon, which will be spent in southern California. An attractive home is already prepared for their occupancy. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lebo. Formerly she was prominent on the campus both at Mills College and the University of California. Arthur is the son of Mrs. Charles Arthur of this city.

A bridge tea is the pleasure which Mrs. Moylan C. Fox, Jr., is offering a few intimates tomorrow afternoon at Hotel Oakland.

Lieutenant Ellery W. Stone, son of Mrs. Edgar Parkman Stone, left today for Southern California, where he has been ordered to duty as aide to the naval communication superintendent at San Diego. He is a brother of Miss Allison Stone, one of the popular girls of the younger set.

Mrs. Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity of the University of California gave their semi-annual dance at the Hotel Claremont on Saturday evening. The ballroom was decorated in the Theta Chi colors, red and white, and banners from other chapters of the East. Patronesses for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John Hood, Mr. and Mrs. William Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sweeney.

Auto of Honeymooners in Collision; Man Is Killed

Dodge-Tietzen Nuptials Have Tragic Aftermath in Fatal Accident

Tragic disaster shadowed the honeymoon trip on which Charles Sessions Dodge, member of a prominent Alameda family, took his bride of Easter morning, the former Miss Hazel Tietzen, yesterday. Motoring to Del Monte after the wedding, the bride and groom had reached the San Juan road when their machine collided with another, resulting in the death of Robert Hawkins of Salinas, driver of the other car. James Farrell, Judge David Wallace and Andy Sterling were injured.

The nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Dodge were celebrated with elaborate ceremony yesterday at the home of the bride's Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Tietzen, at 2840 Claremont Boulevard, and were largely attended by society. The collision took place several hours later, not long before the young people were scheduled to reach Del Monte, where they had planned to spend several weeks. In a telegram sent to friends in Berkeley, Dodge states that he was not spending and expects to be freed from blame.

Hawkins, who died almost instantly, leaves a widow and two children. Farrell suffered internal injuries and little hope is held for his recovery. No one in the Dodge car was injured. According to Salinas report the accident is said to have been due to both drivers hugging the center of the highway. The hubs of the cars struck and they overturned.

Mrs. M. Miller, a widow, of 925 Sixty-first street, Oakland, was saved from death in the waters of the bay at midnight by Arthur H. Fairholme, of 1471 Treat avenue, Oakland. She was able to come home today but her rescuer, who was in the hospital in San Francisco, and will probably be an invalid for ten weeks as a result of his heroism.

"There is already an invalid at home. I did not want to be another," said Mrs. Miller in explanation of her attempt to throw herself from the lower deck of the steamer Alameda. She stood up on the main box and was about to dive into the water when Fairholme saw her. In seizing her as she was about to jump over the rail, Fairholme knocked her down and she was removed to the hospital. The woman was treated for hysteria and at 8 o'clock this morning when leaving for her home she could remember nothing of her attempt on her life. To the nurses last night she explained that she was suffering from rheumatism and feared that she would be an invalid. She explained that her brother, John Swett, had been a member of the crew of the Alameda, and she thought it too bad to have two nearly helpless persons in one house. The Miller is about 40 years old and has been a widow for twelve years.

and some of its stately homes; and she had had some of the worst young men making love to her. But Sir Ralph, she wrote her aunt, evidently regarded her "as something between a squaw and a pork-packer's daughter."

Sir Ralph threw her into such a bog of humiliation that she floundered at every step. How could she give an intelligent reading to a line when he wanted every word sung according to the critics of another woman of another race? How could she embody a role in its entirety when every utterance, and motion was to be patterned on the lines of a famous actress?

Sir Ralph not only threw his company into a panic, but he revealed a positive genius for offending the redoubtable Mrs. Lebo. The patriot before the first curtain rose there was a feeling of hostility, against which the disaffected and disorganized players struggled in vain.

Why eat potatoes?
"At eight cents a pound the potato is a needless luxury," says the New York Board of Health. The potato is seventy-five per cent. water and the rest is mostly starch. It is a good food when eaten in combination with proteid foods—but not worth eight cents a pound. Cut out meat, eggs and high-priced vegetables and stick to cereals and fruits. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits (cost two cents) with milk make a complete meal, supplying all the nutriment needed for a half day's work. For breakfast with hot milk; for dinner with sliced bananas or stewed prunes. Made at Oakland, California.

For the first time since the great war began in Europe, the celebration of Easter in Oakland and east bay churches was marked by appeals to patriotic devotion of Americans and prayers for the guidance of the President and his advisers in the conduct of the campaign. Two previous Easters have heard utterances deprecating war and praying that the United States might continue in peace; this year there were exhortations to the auditors to show undeviating allegiance to their country which has now entered into the terrific world struggle.

The celebration of the resurrection of the Prince of Peace saw every church auditorium turned into a spectacle of beauty with many flowers. Special music of praise and rejoicing resounded beneath every vaulted roof dedicated to the service of God and humanity. Thousands of auditors and worshippers filled the sacred edifices and with their prayers mingled references to the part that America shall play in the slaughter of men.

Pulpit utterances for the most part deplored the necessity of the United States taking part in the war while at the same time declaring such a necessity as already existed in the interest of justice and ultimate peace. The patriotism of men and women was appealed to for devoted service in every way. A series of lectures were given, and sermons. Here and there words of caution against over-zealous acts were uttered.

TO SHOW MODEL

How the Oakland postoffice is operated will be shown by a model postoffice which will be a feature at the first ball of the Municipal Auditorium of the National Association of Letter Carriers, Oakland Branch No. 76, on the night of April 27.

The proceeds of the ball will be used in paying the expenses of the branch's brass band, which will be sent to Dallas, Texas, to represent Oakland at the association's national convention. The local branch comprises more than 150 members.

ILLNESS CAUSES SUICIDE.
D. A. Hillon, manager of the Acme Taxicab Company, of 735 Twenty-sixth street, died at the Morritt hospital yesterday morning from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head. Despondent, it is thought, on account of a long illness, he shot himself last Tuesday morning. He was 35 years of age and is survived by a widow.

CADUATING MARY CARSTAIRS

By Henry Synnor Harrison

The square swam before his blinded eyes. He took off his glasses and wiped them frankly. Bluff formally left him, with a nod at parting, carrying along the "new" remarks and nervously thrown together in his Roman progress up Main street.

The modesty of the man who has just addressed you," he began unsteadily. "I deceive no one. You all know what I owe to him—what our town owes to him. You all know that if I am almost too proud and too happy to give him the credit it is because a kindly chance sent Mr. Maginnis to Hunston."

Cheers, more cheers, and yet again cheers, were running on and on, and though they never made the slightest spontaneous waves of applause that meant, what nearly all know, that Maginnis personally had captured Hunston, and that his efforts with the aid of his rough fellows of the baser sort.

The speaker was resuming, not yet through with the address which he had over the shouting crowd had fallen upon a face.

"I know that both honesty and logic were on the side which Mr. Maginnis, coming here at a stranger's bidding to support. But honesty does not always make a winning cause, nor does logic. What I may call sympathy is often better than both. The speaker was not a stranger to Mr. Maginnis received this supplement. Sympathy came to aid reform. A brutal outrage sullied the name of our town—our town which was born of politics. The victim of that outrage, and the hero of that terrible night, is happily with us today."

"I will not offend him with any words of praise, and I will not say in the market place what is the truth of the committee room. When this gentleman did what he did, he brought to the attention of the public what has made me mayor of Hunston."

Every eye followed the direction of the speaker's glance and his grave brow, and by the chance of good position, it happened that nearly all could see. Upon a dingy porch, a few yards up the Main street side of the square, stood a wide old man shading a rather badly marked face. And there was no possibility of any mistake—it was Jim Hackley's porch that stood up and—yes, it was Jim Hackley himself, a sober and genial Jim Hackley, who stood by his side, in intimate pose, and grinning somewhat sheepishly into the glare of fame which enveloped him.

What part Hackley had borne in the events to which the orator had referred was never officially known. There had been suspicious about him. His present friendliness with the victim of those events, therefore, seemed the end and symbol of penitence and reconciliation.

It was the first time that Hunston had seen Varney since the night he was hurt, and the first time that he had seen him since the night he was hurt. The story of his deeds and his sufferings, doubtless considerably embellished and known to every one, made him a figure of keen popular interest. Varney gave a answer which Mr. Stobo found completely reassuring. At the same time he rapidly produced his pocketbook and pulled out a bill of $100, which he handed to the speaker.

"I owe you a great deal for bringing me this information. Mr. Stobo—more than I can repay. But perhaps you would let me."

He stopped suddenly, for the man had started backing off down the scum, a dull unaccustomed color showing in his grimy face.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH
Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."

—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CUBA AND LATIN AMERICA.

Cuba is the seventeenth nation to enter the war, and the thirteenth to line up in the fight for democracy and civilization. The war declaration was unanimously voted by the Cuban legislature Saturday evening and was immediately signed by President Menocal.

The entrance of Cuba into the conflict at the side of the United States is a gratifying evidence of the loyalty of the young island republic to the government and the people who fought to give it liberty and independence. Cuba may be said to be wholly a product of America's allegiance to the ideals of democratic government and human liberty. It was this country which rescued the Cuban people from the misery to which a tyrannical despotism had reduced them.

To all the republics of Latin America the history of Cuba should be an earnest of this nation's attitude toward popular government, of its friendship and willingness to give substantial aid to all peoples who desire to perpetuate government of their own making and control.

The United States is not only fighting its own battles in defense of the lives of its citizens and its national integrity; it has drawn the sword, reluctantly, as the world knows, in behalf of liberty and human rights for the Western Hemisphere, for liberty-loving people throughout the world. It should not be surprising if all the governments of South America refuse longer to tolerate the indiscriminate and ruthless invasion of the privileges of their citizens to pursue their innocent and legitimate objects everywhere. That they have not suffered more from the ravages of submarine pirates is because they have not sent implements of neutral trade into the world's maritime highways. But the fate of Brazilian ships within the last week shows what all might expect if they had ships.

The republics of Latin-America do not limit their aspirations to a provincial and isolated life. They hope in time to participate in the world's commercial and political intercourse. It is now that they should assist in overthrowing the power that has presumed to declare ownership of a part of the Atlantic ocean, to forbid peaceful nations to navigate the high seas. Unless the universal right of human occupancy and travel, of peaceful intercourse between peaceful nations, is maintained, the Latin American republics will be doomed to remain in their present state of development. Civilization will have received its death thrust at the hands of Prussian highwaymen.

The present is an opportunity that comes only once in the lifetime of a nation, in the existence of a race. It is to make the future secure. If the Western Hemisphere is solidified behind the righteous cause for which the United States has gone to war nothing can eventuate in the future seriously to menace the integrity of the several nations that have their being within it. Will the republics of Central and South America realize their opportunity?

FOREIGN SOLDIERS.

A correspondent of THE TRIBUNE has suggested the organization of an army corps from the citizens of the entente powers now sojourning in the United States. The plan has also been suggested through other mediums. It is pointed out that there are several thousand reservists of foreign military organizations in the country and that they could easily be converted into an efficient and effective unit of the great army which now will have to be raised.

The evidence of loyalty to the great cause for the preservation of civilization in which the United States is now enlisted, and the willingness to render the highest form of service to that cause, is most gratifying. The citizens of foreign countries who have tendered their services in this hour deserve the highest commendation and consideration.

But it is questionable whether they have suggested the best way of accomplishing the desired end. Any army this government puts into the field should be an American army, fighting under the American flag, and with undivided allegiance to the cause of the American nation, whatever that may be. All citizens of the United States may enlist in such an army, whether their ancestors came over in colonial times, whether their parents were foreign-born, or whether they are themselves naturalized citizens. There is no discrimination toward any class of loyal American citizens.

Residents in this country who have not given up their foreign citizenship and still owe allegiance to a foreign government may return home and serve with their own colors. Every facility will now be provided for conveying foreign reservists desiring to join the war against the enemies of the United States to their home country. In this way their strength will be more efficiently applied.

The federal laws forbid any other arrangement. Only native-born or naturalized citizens, and those who have declared their intention to become citizens, may be enlisted in the service of the United States. To accept the assistance of a foreign legion would necessitate new congressional legislation, the wisdom of which is not now apparent.

SOME MEDICAL EXPERIMENTS.

In a series of papers on infantile paralysis published in the April number of the Journal of Experimental Medicine is to be found much information concerning the results of the special studies of this subject made by members of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. One learns from this series that the microbe cause of the disease enters the system by way of the mucous membranes of the throat and nose. It is demonstrated that many more persons are exposed to the disease and become contaminated with it than develop the disease or convey the virus to others who may develop it. From these facts the investigators point out that it is obvious that the body contains natural defenses against the virus.

The investigators have also found that there are a number of defensive measures in the human system against contamination and they refer to the fact that in the epidemic in New York last summer and autumn only 1.59 persons in every 1000 of population developed the disease in any of its forms. The first set of defensive means were discovered by Dr. Amoss of the Rockefeller Institute and Dr. Taylor of the Vermont State Board of Health. They reside in the secretions of the nose itself. They found, for example, by means of experiments on monkeys, that distilled water washings of the nose and throat when mixed with preparations of the active virus of infantile paralysis abolished or neutralized its activity. They also found a set of internal defenses, consisting of the intact membranes surrounding the spinal cord and the brain. These membranes when intact exclude practically everything, including microbes, except the watery fluid from the delicate nervous tissues. By further experimentation it was discovered that very slight injury to these structures permits the virus to get into the spinal cord and brain, when infantile paralysis arises. Dr. Flexner and Dr. Amoss have shown that by increasing artificially the permeability of the membranes of monkeys a neutralizing or healing substance passes readily into the fluid within the membrane and thus makes cure possible. Dr. Flexner and Dr. Lewis of the Medical Research Institute had already discovered, in 1910, that monkeys inoculated with the virus of infantile paralysis could often be saved from developing the disease if the blood of other monkeys recovered from the disease was injected into the membranes about the spinal cord by the process of lumbar puncture.

These investigations do not hold a positive promise that a cure for infantile paralysis which will be effective in all cases has been discovered. But they do show that the investigators have learned the nature of the disease, how the human body may be defended against it and in what manner remedies may be applied. A serum for overcoming the infantile paralysis bacilli has already been discovered. The medical scientists, being conservative, have not announced that they have a positive prevention or cure for this scourge. But they do appear to be on the threshold of victory.

Such progress as they have made has been accomplished through experimentation with animals. They could not succeed by any other method. If the assurances which investigation so far offers are verified in future practice the anti-vivisectionists may be as grateful as any other possible victims of disease.

Some reflection may be induced from the Easter church service advertisements. They ran to music. In one the names of five who played or sang were starred in type of equal size with that of the pastor, and the particulars of what they were to render outdied in space and display that of the theme of discourse. We have come some distance from the time when a musical instrument in a church was looked upon as contraption of Satan, and when any performance within its walls other than the sermon, the prayer and the sacred hymn in which all joined, was a desecration. Some older church-goers may remember the impression received upon first hearing a viola in an augmented church choir, and seeing the executant perform so much like a fiddler.

A lyceum bureau with which Mr. William J. Bryan has a contract to lecture at so much per lecture has served notice that it will cancel its agreement with the Nebraska orator unless he agrees to preach loyalty to country. This should not cause great inconvenience to Mr. Bryan. His lectures and public speaking have always rested upon a monetary basis.

At the age of eighty-seven Amelia E. Barr, well-known American novelist, works a nine-hour day. She is a rare example of one who has gained fame refusing to abandon the habits that brought fame.

St. Louis claims to have produced a woman who has founded a new profession—that of itinerant efficiency bookkeeper. With due respect to the efficiency experts, the pressing need seems to be for more efficient stationary bookkeepers.

NOTES and COMMENT

The ways in which a teacher may get in bad with parents are various. Two hundred mothers at Hammond, Ind., have demanded the resignation of a teacher because she took some small boys home and gave them a bath.

Livestock note from the Richmond Record-Herald: "Hogs, we read, are quoted at $15, and hard to get. And yet there are a few in this town we would like to give away."

Deep wisdom from the Martinez Standard: "Extremes of patriotism, that run into rioting when there is no provocation warranting such action, are to be deprecated. The typical American keeps his head level while keeping his heart loyal."

A program has been worked out for the Boy Scouts. They are to render first aid, carry messages or send them by wireless or semaphore, help in the care and protection of property, give alarm of danger, and so on. A large proportion of the 200,000 enrolled are practicing signals and other preparations.

The Marysville Appeal supplements the keep-of-the-grass sign: "The Women's Improvement Club did the right and patriotic thing in demanding that the Marysville High school cadets be not allowed to drill in the public parks, as they trampled the grass. We want that grass for the hoboes and bums to sleep on this summer."

Faulty rumor corrected by the San Diego Union: "Bill Schneider, 300-pounder of Second street, denies emphatically that it is necessary for him to use a shoe horn when he gets into the front seat of his new flier."

We of California may get reassurance from reading about Kansas. A law has been passed there making it unlawful to have or give away cigarette papers, to have them about the premises, or to advertise cigarettes or the makings for sale. We haven't got to that pass yet.

The Marysville Appeal hazards an opinion: "We may be wrong but if those high school girls enlist as Red Cross nurses many a soldier will feel it a pleasure to be wounded."

The Richmond Record-Herald sets forth the situation: "This country is a good-natured, tolerant, war-hating giant, until somebody orders it to get off the earth."

JERUSALEM.

The National Geographic Society, in its daily statement concerning the geography of the European war, issued from its headquarters at Washington, says of Jerusalem:

"The progress of the British campaign in Syria is bringing English troops close to the walls of Jerusalem, and brings the possibility that another race may write its name in the long list of those who have held possession of the Holy City whose history, covering, as authenticated, nearly thirty-five centuries, has recorded so many changes of sovereignty in which the Israelite, the Assyrian, the Persian, the Egyptian, the Roman, the Greek, the Moslem and the Frank have had their place. Jew, Pagan, Christian and Ottoman have in turn played the part of besieged and besieger, and it is now exactly four centuries since the old walls were last threatened, for it was in 1517 that the Egyptian Sultans were driven out by the Ottoman Turks, who then captured the city. It is doubtful if any city of like or even comparative importance has passed the period since the invention of gunpowder (1354) amid such immunity from the roar of hostile guns. The defenses of the city, designed of course for earlier methods of warfare, comprise the ancient walls, a series three in number, and none, it is evident, capable of resistance to modern weapons. The last of these defenses, constructed by Agrippa about ten years after the crucifixion, is hardly better defined than either of its predecessors, and none of them can afford more than a strategic line to be strengthened by earthworks for the emplacement of howitzers or other heavy guns, if it be assumed that the Turks possess such weapons and have them at hand.

"Topographically, however, Jerusalem should be capable of being put into condition for prolonged defense. The city possesses five notable hills within its limits; it is surrounded on every hand by fairly deep valleys, the most noteworthy being the valley of Kedron, which lies between the city precincts and the Mount of Olives, lying to the east, and from which descends the road to Bethany.

"The heights of the Mount of Olives only slightly exceed in elevation those of the five hills within the city, the highest of which is Mount Zion, standing at 2529 feet above the sea level and overtopping the surrounding valley of Hinnom by exactly 500 feet, while Mount Moriah, a little farther to the east, rises nearly 700 feet above the valley of Jehoshaphat.

"Railway connection is had with the airport of Jaffa, but there are none but the most primitive of means of communication within the town, where only a few streets are suitable for wheeled conveyances of any kind. The population is about 35,000, the majority of whom are Jews, while the Moslems and the Christians of various sects number about 9000 in each group. There is little love lost among the Christian sectaries, it must be said, and their jealousies, especially as regards their privileges at the Church of the Sepulcher, have long been a fest to the Mohammedan ruler, who has seen at the Saviour's tomb a striking example of the enmities and ambitions which so long have enabled the Turkish conqueror to hold in subjection the masses of Christian peoples in the Near East whom he has been able to 'divide and rule.'"

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

A dash of college spirit was experienced by Oaklanders when the California Glee, Banjo and Mandolin clubs gave a concert in the Unitarian church.

The Police Court docket was the lightest this morning that it has been for many months. Only three violators of the law were presented to the judge.

Oakland has got a good deal the best of it in the wind-up of the insurance fight, and for two or three months more will have the privilege of the cut-rate schedule, which is 25 per cent lower than the new listing that goes into effect March 30 throughout the Pacific states.

The Ebbl Club members held their annual business meeting at the Ebbl Temple. Mrs. Hays, Mrs. Lohse, Mrs. Pinney, Miss Huff and Mrs. Johnson were elected new members of the board of directors.
